White Onions

Onion is one of most widely consumed agro products around the world. We keep this fact in mind and supply fresh onions in the global market. The fresh onions are brought to us from the field. Roots and skins are removed by manual operation and papery husk is peeled off. Then these onions are cleaned and put to dehydration.

Rose Onions

The onions produced are dehydrated using a continuous-conveyor drying system. We trade in whole onions as well as in sliced onions. Each stage is carefully controlled to remove the optimum amount of moisture without damaging the onion's pure flavor. They are then packed according to the need of the client.

Shallots / Small Onions

Botanical name of Shallot is Allium ascalonicum Linn and it belongs to the family Liliaceae. Shallots probably originated in Asia, traveling from there to India and the eastern Mediterranean.

Chilies:

India is the world's largest producer, consumer and exporter of chilies in the world. India also has the largest area under chilies in the world. Chilies are the most common spice cultivated in India. It is estimated that India produced 1060345 tons of dry chili from an area of 8, 84,183 hectares in 2003-04.

Chilies are valued principally for their high pungency and color. Almost all the states of India produce the crop. The Indian Chili growing states are Andhra Pradesh (46%), Karnataka (15%), Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh, Orissa, West Bengal, Rajasthan and Tamil Nadu. Indian Chili can be grown during the entire year at one or the other part of the country. However, the major arrival season extends from February to April.

The crop planting starts from August and extends till October. While, the harvesting begins from December with 5% of the arrivals usually reported in this month. The peak arrivals are reported in February to March. There are several varieties of Indian Chilli and the most popular among these are sanam 334, wrinkle 273, Badayagi, Wonder Hot, Mundu, Teja, Yellow Chillies & Tomato Chillies.

India is the largest consumer of Chilli in the world. Around 90% of India's production is consumed within the country. India exports chillies in the form of dried chillies, Chilli powder, picked chillies and Chilli oleoresin. Indian Chilli is mainly exported to USA, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, the Middle East and the Far East.

Turmeric

Rajapuri Quality is also a known quality and attracts the Masala manufacturer besides the Salem variety. But production of this quality is low at ~2lakh bags. Both Rajapuri and Salem quality fetch higher prices. Third quality is produced in Messur, Karnataka and called as Godal Patte. It is considered slightly inferior in quality to the former 2. The fourth quality – the Finger quality gets its name from its shape - which looks like human finger. Major producing states are Tamil Nadu, AP, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Orissa, Meghalaya, Bihar and Assam are the main turmeric producing areas. Moreover, Erode, Selam and Rajapur are the main trading place. Other producing countries are Myanmar and China.

In 2008, total production of turmeric was around 4200000 bags while in 2009, it is expected to touch the level of around 45-5000000 bags. Total consumption is around 4500000 bags which include both export and domestic demand.
